

Southwestern College

Industrial/Organizational Psychology

Are you interested...

In applying psychology to the workplace?

In studying workplace behavior?

In helping to select employees who are a good fit for a particular job?

In helping to train and assess employees and human resources?

In working to determine the best work conditions for a particular job?

In working to determine who are the best leaders and put those practices into place with current leaders?

Requires a bachelor's degree & M.S., or PhD in industrial/organizational psychology.

Contact:

Dr. Carrie Lane

Associate Professor &
Director of Psychology

Southwestern College

Carrie.lane@sckans.edu

620-229-6296

General Required Courses:

General Psychology

Research Methods

Statistics

History of Psychology

Prep 499

I/O Psychology Recommended Courses:

I/O Psychology

Organizational Behavior

Social Psychology

Personality

Learning

Cognition

Community Psychology

Psychology of Women

Research

Practicum

Recommended Six Courses

Management

Business Ethics

Principles of Microeconomics

Communication, teamwork,

leadership, groups

Introduction to Leadership

Leadership & Ethical Worldviews