

JOB DESCRIPTION: Biology Lab Assistant

Name of Position: Student worker position as Lab Assistant for the course Biology 2 (BIOL112)

Department: Natural Science Division

Campus Location: Beech Science Center

Supervisor: Dr. Richard Cowlshaw

Length of Contract: Spring Semester of academic year (2022- 2023)

Pay Rate: Minimum Wage

Job Purpose: Assist Instructor in setting up, conducting and taking down lab activities for Biology 2

Job Responsibilities:

- Help instructor in set up lab room with materials needed for the weekly lab activity.
- Assist instructor in helping students in the lab to work through the assigned lab activity and to help troubleshoot problems that come up during the lab period.
- Help instructor clean up the lab room at the end of each activity and set up for the subsequent activity.

Qualifications:

- Must be a biology or marine biology major and have taken and successfully passed the course
- Student should be dependable and have the capacity to meet job responsibilities without immediate supervision.
- Student must be outgoing and willing to help students work through problems that arise during the lab activity.

Skill Development Areas:

- Individuals in this position will gain valuable experience in the development of communication skills.

Evaluation: Student will be informally evaluated at the end of the semester.